Citation

-  • Documentation of original source
-  • Street address for the quote
-  • Reference to a published/ unpublished source
-  • Goes parallel with your writing
-  • Not to be overlooked
-  • Mark all the sites for citations

Referencing Style

What needs to be documented?

- When exact words or a unique phrases have been copied.
- When ideas presented in a book, magazine, newspaper, web page, TV program, letter, advertisement or any other medium have been incorporated in work.
- When any diagrams, illustrations, charts, pictures or other visual material has been reprinted.
- When information is gained through interviewing or conversing with another person, face to face, on phone or in writing.
- When any electronically available material including images, audio or video has been reused.

Referencing Style

Why must we cite?

- ➡ To acknowledge and give credit to sources of words, ideas, diagrams, illustrations, quotations borrowed, or any materials summarized or paraphrased.
- ➡ To show that you are respectfully borrowing other people's ideas, not stealing them, i.e., to prove that you are not plagiarizing.
- ➡ To enhance the credibility of your research. By giving the readers an opportunity to check out your sources for accuracy, you inspire reader confidence.

Methods of Citation

Referencing Style

Footnotes

-  • Place a superscript number after the last word of the quotation.
-  • Place the same superscript number at the beginning of the Footnote at the bottom of the same page where the citation occurs.
-  • Example:
 - *In traditional British East Africa, there are certain social and cultural restrictions for young females.*⁶
 - [6] Sigmund Freud, Totem and Taboo (New York: Random, 1918) 17.
-  • In your work cited page, you write:
 - Freud, Sigmund. Totem and Taboo. New York: Random, 1918.

Referencing Style

☑ Parenthetical references

- It is the simplest way to cite sources.

- The author's last name and page number(s) are placed in parentheses in the text to give credit to sources. Example:

- In their Preface, the authors point out that "Learning Hypertext Markup Language (HTML) and Extensible Hypertext Markup Language (XHTML) is like learning any new language, computer or human" (Musciano and Kennedy xi).

- In your bibliography or work cited page you write

- Musciano, Chuck, and Bill Kennedy. HTML and XHTML: The Definitive Guide. 4th ed. Sebastopol, CA: O'Reilly, 2000.

In-text Citations: Basics

-  • This means that the author's last name and the year of publication for the source should appear in the text, e.g., (Ahmad, 2016).
-  • In-text citations help readers locate the cited source in the References section of the paper.
-  • Whenever you use a source, provide in parenthesis:
 - the author's name and the date of publication
 - for quotations and close paraphrases, provide the author's name, date of publication, and a page number

Referencing Style

In-text Citations: Formatting Quotations

When quoting, introduce the quotation with a signal phrase. Make sure to include the author's name, the year of publication, the page number, but keep the citation brief – do not repeat the information. For example:

- Caruth (1996) states that a traumatic response frequently entails a “delayed, uncontrolled repetitive appearance of hallucinations and other intrusive phenomena” (p.11).
- A traumatic response frequently entails a “delayed, uncontrolled repetitive appearance of hallucinations and other intrusive phenomena” (Caruth, 1996, p.11).

Referencing Style

☑ In-text Citations: Formatting a Summary or Paraphrase

- ➡ Provide the author's last name and the year of publication in parenthesis after a summary or a paraphrase.
- ➡ For example:
 - Though feminist studies focus solely on women's experiences, they err by collectively perpetuating the masculine-centered impressions (Fussell, 1975).

Referencing Style

In-text Citations: Formatting a Summary or Paraphrase

- Several authors with different dates: Include the authors name in a signal phrase followed by the year of publication in parenthesis.

- For example:

- Recently, the history of warfare has been significantly revised by Higonnet et al. (1987), Marcus (1989), and Raitt and Tate (1997) to include women's personal and cultural responses to battle and its resultant traumatic effects.

Referencing Style

In-text Citations: Signal Words/Phrases

• Introduce quotations with signal phrases, e.g.

- According to X. (2008), “...” (p. 3).
- X. (2008) argued that “...” (p. 3).

• Use such signal verbs as:

- acknowledged, contended, maintained, responded, reported, argued, concluded, etc.

• Use the past tense or the present perfect tense of verbs in signal phrases

Referencing Style

☑ In-text Citations: A Work with Two Authors

• When citing a work with two authors, use “and” in between authors’ name in the signal phrase yet “&” between their names in parenthesis.

- According to feminist researchers Raitt and Tate (1997), “It is no longer true to claim that women’s responses to the war have been ignored” (p. 2).
- Some feminists researchers question that “women’s responses to the war have been ignored” (Raitt & Tate, 1997, p. 2).

Referencing Style

In-text Citations: A Work with Three to Five Authors

- When citing a work with three to five authors, identify all authors in the signal phrase or in parenthesis.

- (Harklau, Siegal, and Losey, 1999)

- In subsequent citations, only use the first author's last name followed by "et al." in the signal phrase or in parentheses.

- (Harklau et al., 1993)

Referencing Style

In-text Citations: Organization

- When citing an organization, mention the organization the first time when you cite the source in the signal phrase or the parenthetical citation.

- The data collected by the Food and Drug Administration (2008) confirmed that...

- If the organization has a well-known abbreviation, include the abbreviation in brackets the first time the source is cited and then use only the abbreviation in later citations.

- Food and Drug Administration (FDA) confirmed... FDA's experts tested...

Referencing Style

In-text Citations: Personal Communication

- When citing interviews, letters, e-mails, etc., include the communicator's name, the fact that it was personal communication, and the date of the communication.

- Do not include personal communication in the reference list.
 - A. P. Smith also claimed that many of her students had difficulties with APA style (personal communication, November 3, 2002).
 - (E. Robbins, personal communication, January 4, 2001).

Referencing Style

In-text Citations: Electronic Sources

- When citing an electronic document, whenever possible, cite it in the author-date style.

- If electronic source lacks page numbers, locate and identify paragraph number/paragraph heading.

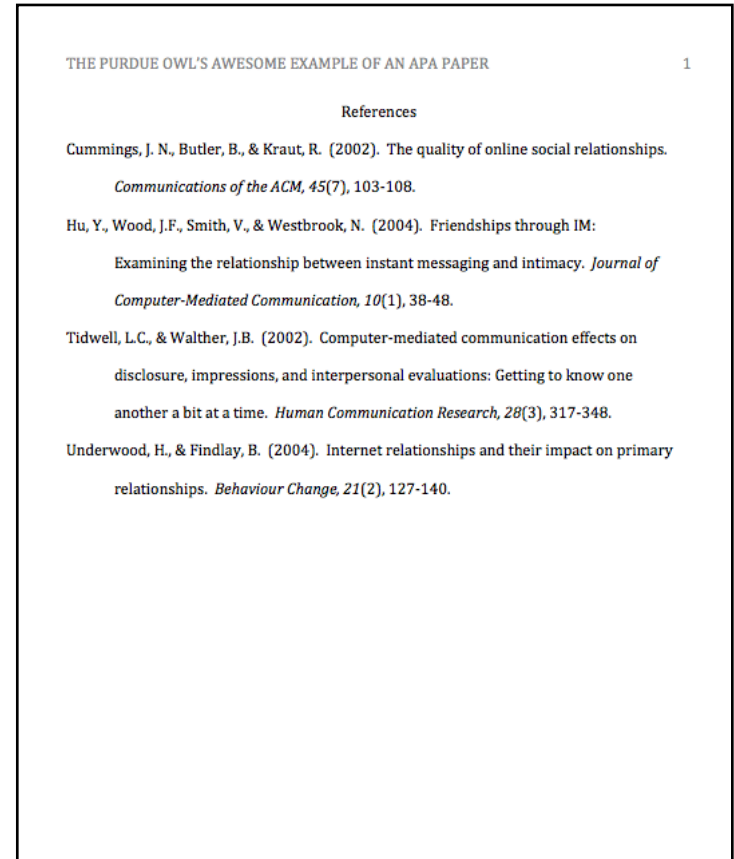

- According to Smith (1997), ... (Mind over Matter section, para. 6).

Referencing Style

☑ Reference Page

- ➡ Center the title (References) at the top of the page. Do not bold it.
- ➡ Double-space reference entries
- ➡ Flush left the first line of the entry and indent subsequent lines
- ➡ Order entries alphabetically by the author's surnames

Referencing Style

Reference Basics [1/2]

- Alphabetize reference list entries the last name of the first author of each work
- Capitalize only the first letter of the first word of a title and subtitle, the first word after a colon or a dash in the title, and proper nouns. Do not capitalize the first letter of the second word in a hyphenated compound word.

Referencing Style

Reference Basics [2/2]

-  Capitalize all major words in journal titles
-  Italicize titles of longer works such as books and journals
-  Do not italicize, underline, or put quotes around the titles of shorter works such as journal articles or essays in edited collections

Referencing Style

Making the References List

- ➡ APA is a complex system of citation. When compiling the reference list, the strategy below might be useful:
- ➡ Identify the type of source: Is it a book? A journal article? A webpage?
- ➡ Find a sample of citing such source in the textbook or in OWL APA Guide: <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/>
- ➡ “Mirror” the sample
- ➡ Make sure that the entries are listed in the alphabetical order and the subsequent lines are indented (Recall References: Basics)

Referencing Style

✓ APA Tables

• Label tables with an Arabic numeral and provide a title. The label and the title appear on separate lines above the table, flush-left and single-spaced.

• Cite a source in a note below the table.
